Head Of The La Follette Campaign Committee Do Not Like Plan Of State Convention.

MR. COOK'S CAMPAIGN IS ANNOYING

May Seriously Complicate Plans Already Laid For The State Arranged Some Weeks Ago For The Delegates To National Convention.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, Wis., Feb. 20.—Political complications are multiplying, and trouble is recognized by the boomers of Senator La Follette for the presidential nomination. The entrance of H. A. Cook of Wisconsin into the senatorial race with a petition of 25,000 signatures, in the latest of the complications. The trouble for the La Follette committee lies in the uncertainty of the election of the state of delegates-at-large candidates announced by Chairman A. W. Sanborn of Ashland. It would be something of a joke at the expense of the committee if the republican party of Wisconsin were to hold a convention and suggest a quarter of candidates different from those selected by Chairman Sanborn, and there is reason to believe that this is what the committee fears will eventuate.

CHIEF AND CHAMPION IN "WM. TELL" ACT

With a Mangy Terrier Serving as the Target—Effectiveness of Machine Gun—Dog-catching Methods.

There was a Ben Grant, popular performer of "William Tell" back of the city hall one day this week. Officer Peter Champion played the role of the little son, but his delineation, unlike that in the episode brought to pass by the tyrant, Gessler, was quite voluntary and the target was in his hands instead of on his head. City Marshal W. H. Appleby, cast for the part of "Tell," also used a machine gun instead of a bow and arrow, and a mangy terrier took the place of the traditional apple. Except for the variations noted, the fidelity of the reproduction to the Swiss original was perfect.

Officer Champion caught the disguised dog with a cloth net. It was not deemed wise to run the risk of infection by attaching a chain and the City Marshal blandly suggested that the captor hold the victim out at arm's length and permit him to perform the execution at a distance of ten feet. Without hesitation and in a manner perfectly matter of fact, the other accepted. The terrier bolted, went straight through the dog's head, the impact hurling the whole carcass out of Officer Champion's hands, and followed with a "whinging-spill" sort of a noise on the stone wall of the barn. "Go, but that jarrin'" was the inelegant remark of "Tell, Jr."

It may not be generally known that Officer Champion is one of the most adventurous dog-catchers which the police department has developed. Barabrand, he seizes big and small ones by the scruff of the neck and the middle of the back and transports them to the pen. A day or so ago he caught a big collie in this fashion near the Five Points and carried it in front of him, without changing his grip, all the way to the station.

This morning City Marshal Appleby took a wing shot at an unmuzzled black mongrel that was racing up Wall street and dropped it right in the middle of a yelp. The poor beast never had a chance to close its mouth and was stone-dead after keeling two somersaults.

MANY DOGS WERE BITTEN BY PURP

BLACK DOG SHOT BY ALVA MAXFIELD LAST THURSDAY.

IT HAD THE RABIES

This is the Report That Comes from Madison—Suspected Dog Will Probably Be Shot.

There is serious danger of the spreading of the epidemic of hydrophobia in the vicinity of the city unless steps are taken to kill the animals known to have been bitten by a black dog last Thursday, whose death was brought about by a shot from Alva Maxfield's gun late in the evening. The head of the dead animal was cut off and sent to the Wisconsin Hygienic Laboratory at Madison and Health Officer Alcott this afternoon received a report that it showed decided signs of suffering from the rabies. The dog first appeared in the vicinity of William Pearl's farm, four miles north of the city on the Madison road, at ten o'clock Thursday morning. After fighting with the Pearl dog it began a systematic tour of the neighborhood, visiting the Tom Tolin, P. F. Magee, A. C. Galt, C. W. Diehl, Frank Elmer, William Pahl, Alva Maxfield and Stanley Sexton places. Several men who saw the animal thought it mad and tried to kill it without success. Alva Maxfield found it in his woodshed late that night and shot it before it could attack him. At least a half dozen dogs are known to have been bitten and they will probably be killed at once to avoid any further spreading of the disease.

ABUSIVE LANGUAGE CASE IS ON TRIAL

Before a Jury of Six in Municipal Court Today—Mrs. Eliza Heller the Defendant.

Before a jury composed of Charles Tallman, Orville Morse, William Slavson, Hugh M. Joyce, Richard Ashie, and William Rager, in municipal court this afternoon, the case of the State vs. Mrs. Eliza Heller, charged with abusive language, is being tried by Atty. Charles Pierce, counsel for the prosecution, and Atty. J. F. Cunningham for the defendant. W. J. Hill, a brother-in-law of the defendant, is the complainant and the family trouble arose, it is alleged, when Hill tried to take Joseph Churchill, his invalid father-in-law, away from the latter's little home adjoining the Heller premises on North Franklin street. Mr. Churchill is said to be the frequent cause of quarrels among his heirs and the action in question had its origin in one of these quarrels. Atty. Edward Carpenter was one of the witnesses called to the stand.

MARION GREY.

Chicago, Feb. 20.—Marion Goodenough, three times married and the mother of a 5-year-old son, who as Marion Grey conducted a matrimonial bureau in Elgin, Ill., was found guilty of using the mails in defrauding William Grable of Dearborn, Mo., by failing to procure for him a wife as "wealthy and good looking" as promised in advertisements sent out by her. Grable was married to the woman furnished by the bureau and was satisfied with her, though she did not fulfill specifications as to beauty and wealth.

Judge Landis in his charge to the jury made a severe attack on the "cupid agency" conducted by a young woman. He referred to the literature and letters sent out by the bureau as "contemptuous," "rot," and "stupid," he called the matrimonial agency business "mercurial matchmaking."

After the trial this girl, who claims to have tried to make others happy, gave out the following opinions: Marriage is a lottery—the majority of cases are failures. Men, as a class, are fickle and cannot be depended on. Women can really love but once. Conducting a matrimonial agency is disgusting and revolting.

WILLIAM RUGER'S PAPERS ARE OUT

ROCK COUNTY BAR MAKES ANNOUNCEMENT OF HIS CANDIDACY.

BEGIN THEIR DISTRIBUTION

Will Be Sent All Over the State Immediately—Campaign Is on in Earnest.

This morning the following announcement of the members of the Rock County Bar Association in support of the candidacy of William Ruger for election as member of the state supreme court was mailed to the different parts of the state and from now on the campaign promises to be warm and interesting. Mr. Ruger stands as a non-partisan candidate for election and is endorsed by the local association in the following document:

"The members of the Rock county bar of the Twelfth Judicial circuit represented by the undersigned committee, present to the voters of Wisconsin, William Ruger, of the Rock county bar, as their candidate to fill the vacancy in the supreme court caused by the death of the late Chief Justice Cassoday.

"Chief Justice Cassoday was a member of the Rock county bar before his election to the supreme court, and it is appropriate that his successor be selected from the Twelfth circuit.

"Mr. R. M. Haskford of Madison was appointed by the governor to fill the vacancy until the spring election, and is now a candidate at that election. His appointment was made two days after the funeral and before the name of any other candidate could be suggested to the governor, and without consideration of the claims of different sections of the state, or to the fitness of these candidates.

"The southern section of the state is entitled to consideration. The eastern portion now has three justices of the supreme court; the northern, two justices, and, with Mr. Haskford's appointment, Madison has two justices.

"Yet, while it is unfair for Madison to have another representative on the supreme court, and is entirely fair that the Twelfth circuit should be so represented, this committee reads his claim for consideration for our candidate primarily because of his undoubted fitness for this high office.

"No lawyer in the state enjoys a more enviable reputation, and we entertain no doubt but what his legal learning, large general comprehension, and rugged honesty, coupled with his energy for arduous work, will enable him to make him unusually fit for the position.

"He comes from a family of great lawyers. His uncle, William Ruger, was a justice of the court of appeals of New York, and his cousin, William C. Ruger, was chief justice of that court from 1882 until his death in 1892.

"He served in the Union army during the Civil war, as did his brothers, and successfully served as private, 2d lieutenant, 1st lieutenant, regimental adjutant and captain, and assistant adjutant general of U. S. volunteers, and was brevetted major for gallant and meritorious services.

"He is a member of the bar of the supreme court of the United States, and of the other federal courts, as well as of our supreme and circuit courts.

"While unusual for courts to include in their decisions statements commending the ability of attorneys, our supreme court has thus commended Mr. Ruger's arguments in a number of cases.

"The late Chief Justice Dixon, in 26 Wisconsin, page 252, said: 'The argument in support of the motion for a rehearing is certainly most able and dignified, and brings out with the greatest clearness and force all that can well be said in opposition to the views expressed by the majority of the court. Courtesy and a sense of our own obligation require this statement. It is no small privilege, but one greatly to be esteemed, when upon questions of this nature, which are comparatively new and as yet unsettled by many direct authorities, the court is required to retrace its steps and verify the correctness of its conclusions, or to acknowledge its error, in the light of such an argument.'

"And Justice Marshall, in 116 Wisconsin, page 432, said: 'We wish to record the fact that we greatly appreciate the earnest, faithful devotion of the eminent counsel for respondent in this case to the interests he stood for in court, and entertain a high regard for his ability, industry and courage, which is manifest on his every appearance here, and for the aid which his labor has given us in arriving at a correct conclusion now.'

"This committee therefore feels no hesitation in presenting the name of such a candidate to the people, nor in urging all voters to come to his support at the election. Ogden H. Pothers, chairman; Geo. G. Sutherland; John M. Whitcomb; Emmett D. McGowan; John Cunningham; William G. Wheeler; L. E. Gettle; R. M. Richmond; John C. Reed; F. C. Burpee; M. P. Richardson, secretary; Committee of the Rock County Bar."

NEW TEACHERS IN TRAINING COURSE

State University Faculty and Regents Provide More Training for High School Teachers.

Madison, Wis., Feb. 20.—Provision for a course for the training of teachers, principals and superintendents at the University of Wisconsin was made by the regents at the meeting today upon recommendation of the university faculty. The new course, which extends over four years, and is to be required of all students desiring teachers' certificates, includes work in education, psychology, and professional training in the subjects which the students are preparing to teach in high school. Arrangements were also made for an advanced course open to graduates who have completed a regular four years of academic work. The object of the new course is to provide a more complete training of teachers and additional instructors to take charge of departmental teachers' courses were also provided by the regents.

Teachers' courses are to be developed in all departments of the subjects of which are taught in the high school, and especially qualified instructors are to be chosen to conduct this work. Students in this course are required to select a major subject which they desire to teach, or a major and one or two minor subjects, in all of which they must prepare themselves thoroughly. Observation of teaching, in addition to the theoretical part of the course, is an important part of the teachers' courses. All students preparing to teach will be required to enter the new course for the training of teachers.

Arrangements were also made for an advanced training course. This second course is designed to furnish additional professional training to graduates of the university and institutions of similar rank. At present the special advanced work may be pursued during two summer sessions as the equivalent of one semester of graduate study. It is expected that this will lead eventually to the placing of professional study in preparation for teaching and for the supervision of schools upon a definite graduate basis requiring five years for its completion. The advanced course is designed for the training of school superintendents as well as high school teachers, and includes observation of teaching, inspection of schools, and practice teaching. A special certificate is to be granted upon the successful completion of the advanced teachers' training course.

The administration of the new course is to be in charge of a director to be appointed before the end of the present academic year, and an administrative committee consisting of members of the faculty representing the departments the subjects of which are taught in the high school. In addition to the present course two more instructors are to be appointed for next year to take charge of departmental teachers' courses.

The famous Knott & Hatch orchestra will play all the latest hits in dance music at Eagles' ball, Monday, Feb. 24.

TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY

"Take LAXATIVE BROS. Cough Syrup. It cures a cold in one day. It is the only cure. E. W. GROVER'S signature is on each box, 25c."

The dreamy waltzes are all the rage and the "Kiss of Spring" waltz is certainly a dreamy one. Hear it and dance it at the Eagles' ball, Monday, Feb. 24.

When a man or woman is in need of some article for personal or household use, the newspapers and not the signboards are consulted. A sign stuck at the edge of a woods or in an open field tells little and lacks every element of the new paragraphs of the advertisement in the daily journal. That is why the signs worry both the eyes and the patience of the people compelled to see them frequently, and instead of making purchases, simply excite aversion to goods that would commend themselves if displayed in the columns of a newspaper or magazine.—Syack (N. Y.) Star.

FORTY YEARS AGO

Janesville Gazette, Feb. 20, 1868.—Ample Preparations—Remember the high school festival this evening. The pupils have made ample preparations to feed the multitude which we are sure will attend the festival this evening.

The Objects.—The festival at the high school building this evening given by the pupils to raise funds to ornament the room and to secure chemical and philosophical apparatus which the city ought to have supplied long since. Let every one and his friends go and aid in securing this public good.

Non-suited.—The case of the administrator of Mrs. W. P. Woodward killed in this city by the C. & N. W. road Dec. 23, 1864 against the above named road which came on this week before the Jefferson County Circuit court, was brought to the sudden termination yesterday by a nonsuit. The ground upon which the nonsuit was granted was a lack of caution on the part of the deceased. The case will go to the Supreme Court.

Cable dispatches from Spain convey the intelligence that the leader of the Carlist party has effected a revolution against the authority of Queen Isabella in the north and that the adherents have taken it upon themselves to feed the multitude which we are sure will attend the festival this evening.

Each copy is headed with a wood cut or portrait as it is termed of Don Juan, who is killed and named Carlos the Seventh of Spain. This young gentleman's second cousin to Queen Isabella, and grand son of Don Carlos, who made war against her accession to the throne, Don Juan, his father, being a son of Don Carlos.

Pittsburg, Feb. 20.—The river has risen four feet and one inch. It rose a few inches during the night, but is now falling. The weather is clear and mild.

Even the success of the play which everyone is familiar with, in reason sufficient that all classes of theatregoers should not fail to see it.

Henry B. Harris' name is given here in every way first class and exactly as seen in New York, with a cast entirely capable of presenting in the very best way the several characterizations.

"The Heart of Maryland"—The attraction at the Myers theatre Tuesday, Feb. 25, will be David Belasco's "The Heart of Maryland," one of the most deservingly popular and lasting of the many great dramatic successes of the past decade. "The Heart of Maryland" is a romance of love and war, in which woman's love is the predominant theme, and in every act subordinated by its authoritative and luminous strength the clamor and excitements and passions of war which otherwise would absorb the interest of the audience. It is beyond question that the story, events and incidents, its love passages arouse the heart interest of the audience while its depiction of camp life and warfare shows Belasco at his best. "The Heart of Maryland" is a picture of the past and a picture of the future. It is a picture of the past and a picture of the future. It is a picture of the past and a picture of the future.

Mrs. Pike and the Manhattan company, under the management of Harrison Grey Pike, will appear at the Myers theatre on Tuesday, March 2, in "Romeo and Juliet," the powerful and absorbing modern drama by Henrik Ibsen, which is generally accounted this master's masterpiece. It is a story, events and incidents, its love passages arouse the heart interest of the audience while its depiction of camp life and warfare shows Belasco at his best. "The Heart of Maryland" is a picture of the past and a picture of the future. It is a picture of the past and a picture of the future. It is a picture of the past and a picture of the future.

Sign and Guard of Sanity.—A man's life and influence is measured by the range of interests to which he can respond. A store of permanent and varied interests is both a sign and guard of sanity.—Henry Churchill King.

BRODHEAD—Broadhead, Feb. 20.—Leonard Knudson is in Milton this week exhibiting several coops of his fine poultry. It was expected the funeral of D. W. H. Taylor would be held on Tuesday at the Congregational church, but several delays, including a wash-out, prevented and the body did not arrive until Tuesday evening. The funeral was held on Wednesday as announced for Tuesday, the interment being in Greenwood cemetery.

Next Sunday morning at the M. E. church the text announced by Rev. Foster will be "The Holy City," evening subject, "A Dangerous Truck."

Broadhead is to have a two-day farm institute, March 12-13. Several subjects of importance are up for discussion. Everybody invited to attend. Full announcement later.

The Junior Ladies Aid society of the M. E. church meet with Mrs. Lillie Greyvogel, Friday afternoon.

Miss Jessie Thompson is spending the week in Albany, the guest of her aunt, Mrs. E. Boyles.

C. H. Olsen made a business trip to Oshkosh, Wednesday.

Mrs. Hannah Lande and son Wayne are here from Beloit for a short visit.

Next Sunday morning at the M. E. church the text announced by Rev. Foster will be "The Holy City," evening subject, "A Dangerous Truck."

They Digest

The fierce heat of our ovens makes our beans digestible. Yours are not Home-baked beans are heavy food. They are hard to digest, also hard to prepare. That's why you serve them only occasionally.

Yet beans are Nature's choicest food—84 per cent nutriment.

But beans, to be digestible, must be factory cooked.

It requires a terrific heat to separate the particles for the digestive juices. You cannot apply it.

Your beans are mushy; ours mealy. Yours are broken; ours are whole

That's because we bake in live steam—not in dry heat. And the baking is done in the cans. The result is that nutty flavor which distinguishes Van Camp's.

Then we bake the beans, the tomato sauce and the pork all together, and get our delicious blend. You miss these results in home cooking, because you lack the facilities.

Van Camp's pork and beans
baked with tomato sauce

The beans that we use cost $2.10 per bushel, though we could buy beans as low as 30 cents. We get only the whitest, the plumpest, the choicest beans that grow.

We spend five times as much to make our tomato sauce as other sauce costs ready-made. But that sparkling zest which you note in Van Camp's shows the difference.

Be careful to get the best in baked beans, for the best are cheap enough

Cheap beans are not appetizing. They are neither good nor good for you. You'll eat them only once in a while. But you will want Van Camp's every day. Your people will miss them when you don't have them.

They are far cheaper than meat, yet they have about the same food value. Why not encourage their use?

The Light in the East.

One must not confuse youth with crudity. To those who fancy Oklahoma the home of picturesque, careless cowboys; of Indians continually seeking the warpath for amusement; of one-story buildings; of laboring stage coaches always in imminent danger of hold-up by masked desperadoes, there is nothing but disappointment. The cowboy there is a business proposition; the Indian is a peaceful; the towns are modern and substantial; and the voice of the railroad is heard in the land. It is, in short, a good, hard-working state.—Metropolitan Magazine.

A Religion of Posture.

A religion of posture and imposture, of flexion and genuflexion, of bowing to the right and curtsying to the left, and an enormous amount of man-mil-linery, these I imagine are somewhat worrying to our maker.—Sydney Smith.

The "Driver" Ant.

The species of ant known as the "driver" which will make a dash at a glowing coal, fix its jaws in the burning mass, and shovel up in the heat, is one of the very few creatures which contact with fire does not terrify.

Apprentices Thoroughly Taught.

In England the telephone apprentice serves three years. In the shop, six months; with experienced instrument makers, three months; in switchroom, 18 months; test room, three months, and on instrument fitter, six months.

To advertise successfully you must get the same force and conviction into your publicity that a salesman gets into his conversation. If you can, not do it, get some one who can, or stop advertising.

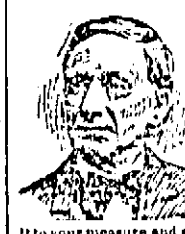

Only Good Breeds Good.

Let me assure you once for all that as you grow older if you enable yourself to distinguish by the truth of your own lives, what is true in those of other men, you will gradually perceive that all good has its origin in good, never in evil.—Ruskin.

Advertising unlike the salesman, has no breathing personality, but nevertheless, when properly produced, can radiate sincerely and create confidence and sell goods.

AT THE PLAY HOUSES

In "The Lion and the Mouse," which Henry B. Harris will produce here on Friday, Feb. 21, at Myers theatre, Charles K. Klein has written a play which is destined to live in the minds of all theatregoers whose privilege it is to see it.

which he has rendered unfavorable decisions. Her homecoming is naturally one of disappointments and heart-breaks, for during her visit to Europe she has met and fallen in love with the son of John Burkett Ryder, the very man who has ruined her father. Jefferson Ryder, who is in turn in love with Shirley Rossmore, accompanies her to her home and offers her hand in marriage, but when Shirley is informed of the new conditions that exist she refuses and dismises him and declares her intention to fight his father. Jefferson, however, is also shocked at his father's pernicious means of dishonoring the Rossmore, enters and there follows a remarkably striking encounter between her and Ryder. Delighted with her frankness and cleverness he asks her to write his autobiography and puts her in possession of secret documents from which to get the data. After being one of the members of his household for a considerable length of time, the master subjugation to her cleverness and wit is so complete, that he asks her to marry his son in order to keep him out of the clutches of the daughter of the hated Rossmore. Her keen sense of womanhood and her love for Jefferson will not allow her to further deceive those who have shown her personal kindness when she was in the hands of the father. Unwittingly and cheated in his fondness for her in a fit of exasperation, orders her from his house, whereupon the son Jefferson interposes, telling his father his determination to leave with her and become her husband. Here Shirley's pride interferes and she denounces Ryder, Sr., assuring him that she would not allow herself to fall so low as to marry the son of a man who has ruined her father. To his hand to save her father from unavailing disgrace. This scene has been unanimously conceded by all critics to be one of the very best introduced in a drama of recent years.

A FEARFUL LOSS

In the past three years the money losses by fire in the United States and Canada aggregated $850,000,000. This sum is more than one-third the total cost of the war between Russia and Japan. It is only $100,000,000 less than the net public debt of the United States. It is equal to all the gold in Great Britain and Austria-Hungary combined. It is $250,000,000 more than the net ordinary receipts of the United States in a year. It is nearly equal to the total capital stock, paid in, of the national banks of the United States. It is $175,000,000 more than the total imports of the United States in a year. It is equal to all the gold imported into the United States since 1896.

There has been burned up in the past three years in the United States and Canada as much as would equal three-fourths of the value of all the cotton exported in the same period. There has been consumed by fire in three years as much as has been expended in the United States in three years on its public schools. If the $850,000,000 lost by fire in the United States were divided between the present population of the United States the loss would amount to very nearly $10 for each man, woman and child.

Of course, included in this enormous total of $850,000,000 is the fearful loss entailed by the San Francisco fire in April, 1906. But even if we excluded the cost of that catastrophe, the loss of three years would aggregate in the neighborhood of $800,000,000, a sum so vast that it almost staggers belief. Can it be for a moment questioned that the tremendous waste by fire occasioned in these three years contributed mightily to the making of the panic from which the country is now suffering?

Now, this waste is a preventable waste. Certainly the largest part of it is absolutely unnecessary. There are no such losses by fire in the principal European countries, and the safeguards which they have erected against fire it ought to be possible to establish in the United States. If it be fair to assume, according to the European standards, that the normal fire loss of the United States would be $60,000,000, then during the past three years we have by reason of neglect—criminal neglect—squandered $290,000,000 a year. It would seem as if the prevention of this fearful loss constituted a problem quite as important as the conservation of our natural resources, as the improvement of our waterways, as the reform of our currency, and even as the establishment of the "square deal."

What are we going to do about it?

THE CITY MARSHALSHIP

While there is no vacancy in the office of city marshal as yet and while the present occupant of the position has not definitely decided whether he will accept the place offered him under the United States government, there is considerable talk among the businessmen of the city relative to the matter. As the law stands and interpreted by some of the ablest attorneys in the state, the choice of the new chief or marshal lies with the council of five men known as the fire and police commission. These men can take no action until the office is declared vacant, until the present marshal hands in his resignation, or they remove him for cause. It is not a political job, not an office that can be filled one week and on a whim of the aldermen vacated the next, but that of a life tenure on good behavior. Thus far three men have been mentioned for the office should it become vacant. Two have had long police service behind them, the third is not far behind in a similar record as constable, police officer and extra officer. Two are ex-sheriffs. Any one of the three should make a good marshal. The question to be presented to the commission for consideration is the selection of the best man for the place. It is not always the businessman who knows nothing of civil life, nothing of the seamy side of the city's life, who confines himself to his business strictly and believes what he hears who is the best judge of the question of fitness for such a position as city marshal of a city the size of Janesville. Our police officers are called upon to do many things that never become known publicly. The expediency of the officers' actions often depends upon absolute secrecy and actions which to the uninitiated appear to need explanation. Janesville is not a bad city and the fact that it is not due to the police. To be a good police chief that official must be impartial. He must not favor friends and expose enemies. He is a public servant and his efficiency as a thief, catcher, a solver of mysteries and protector of the public peace are matters which should weigh in his selection. His oath of office is binding. To swear falsely to it means dismissal. In making their selection the fire and police commission will doubtless take these matters into account and the Gazette will be glad to support the man of their choice, no matter who he is.

SENATORIAL MATTERS

With the announcement of S. A. Cook of Neenah that he gratefully accepts the call signed by twenty-five thousand voters of the state, to become a candidate for the nomination for United States Senator, the opening gun of the senatorial campaign, the first primary senatorial campaign in the history of the state, is fired. Mr. Cook's announcement is public. He and his agents have worked hard and diligently to secure the twenty-five thousand names of voters who pledge themselves to vote for him. He is now ready to begin his work of inducing some fifty thousand more voters that he is the man of their choice. United States Senator Isaac Stephenson is evidently not going to run again. His short term will satisfy his desire for the toga of John C. Spooner. But how about the rest? Where is Hatten, who so valiantly marched his men up and down the hill in the legislature fight a year ago? Where is Connor, the crafty, who finally brought about Stephenson's election by turning two votes to him at a critical period? Where is Jenkins, who has sold his birthright, the seat in congress, to Irving Lenroot, the stenographer from Superior, for a pig in the poke in the shape of support for the Senate? Where is McGovern, the reformer of Milwaukee? All these men have been spoken of; all these men have signified they would like the place, but only Cook is thus far out. It promises to be a merry fight before it is over. Cook is an old campaigner. Cook has come out in Hatten's hallwax and may thus block that gentleman's aspirations. Before the primaries come in September it will be a merry race for honor. The primaries takes the election really out of the hands of the legislature, leaving them only the mere form of electing the candidate chosen at the primaries. It will all be over but the shouting by election day next fall, but there will be lots of shouting before that time.

It is pretty near time for Davidson to make his announcement that all the people want him for Governor again and in view of this fact he will consent to allow his name to be used for the nomination. As much sense in this as the call of the twenty-five thousand for S. A. Cook for Senator.

In selecting aldermen this spring the voters should be careful to choose men with business ability. Important matters are to be decided by the coming council that need good clear heads with lots of gray matter to understand them.

So Hartman has won the decision over Fish and the injunction has been dissolved that forbids his voting a large block of the Illinois Central stock at the coming annual election adjourned from last fall.

Janesville is to have another new factory or rather an old one comes back. The pearl button industry is to come back to Janesville from Muscatine, Iowa, where the town went dry.

Milwaukee is becoming a center of attraction for the prize-fighters of the country who seek an opportunity to display their fistie ability.

Tillman has not been heard from to any extent this session of congress, but he promises to make good before the adjournment comes.

Taking it all in all Janesville is a pretty good town to register from and demand attention.

The weather report says fair with no decided change in temperature and still there are people who laughed at that groundhog story.

Alders political are looking up. The state is now awake. Even the democrats have perked up considerably and begin to take notice.

FIGHT ON J. L. BEAR IN THE THIRD WARD

L. C. Brewer to Contest with Him for Republican Nomination for Supervisor—Political Pot Boils.

Nomination papers are being circulated today for L. C. Brewer as republican candidate for supervisor from the Third ward. Supervisor J. L. Bear has already qualified for the same race. The papers for John J. Sheridan as candidate for the democratic nomination for alderman from the Fourth ward; Wallace E. Watts, aspirant for the republican nomination for constable from the Second ward; and Edward Rathern, candidate for the republican nomination for supervisor from the Fifth ward, have also been filed. Papers are being circulated for Atty. C. H. Lange, who seeks by the republican route to fill Executive Charles Redegard's unexpired term.

Delegates to the national convention of the various political parties will be chosen at the time of the municipal elections on April 7. The official notices to this effect will be sent out by Secretary of State Brewster on March 14. It seems quite evident that it will not be possible to utilize the voting machines in electing these delegates and separate party ballots will probably have to be cast by the voters. Four delegates at large and two in each congressional district, twenty-six in all, are to be named by each party in Wisconsin. H. L. McNamara, republican county chairman, goes to Peoria to attend a meeting of the hardware men next Tuesday. Upon his return a meeting of the republican city committee, consisting of C. H. Elder from the First ward; H. L. Skayman, from the Second; W. H. Greenman, from the Third; C. E. Curtis, from the Fourth; and Fred O'Donnell, from the Fifth, will be called. Among other things it will be necessary for this committee to name a City Chairman who may or may not be one of their number. Plans will be drawn up for the approaching municipal campaign.

The big event of the season, "The Eagles' Ball," Monday, Feb. 21.

THINK NATIONAL LAW WILL GOVERN

General Counsel of the Northwestern Road so Informs the Managing Officials.

It is authentically reported that the general counsel of the Northwestern road has given an opinion to the managing officials that the new federal law, regulating the length of time that railroad employees shall work in such twenty-four hours, will supersede the Wisconsin law providing that operators shall work only eight hours out of twenty-four.

The Wisconsin law, it is claimed, conflicts with the federal one, and the federal law will go into effect on the fourth of March at 1:50 a. m. and on the advice of counsel after that time the Northwestern road will give their operators ten and twelve hour shifts at the smaller stations which are not open continuously. This is possible under the new law and many of the smaller stations which are now closed under the eight hour law will be opened again. The change will not affect the offices which are open all the time as operators can only work nine hours in these offices and the system of three eight hour trips will be continued.

The state law provides that operators who are concerned in the receiving or sending of orders with regard to trains or affecting the movement of trains or cars shall work eight hours and affects operators only. The federal law provides that no employee of a railroad shall work more than sixteen consecutive hours and that he shall have ten hours rest after working and that operators in stations which are open continuously shall not work for more than nine consecutive hours out of twenty-four. In offices which are operated only in the day time operators may remain on duty for thirteen consecutive hours. It is this clause which will make it possible for the railroads to reopen many of the smaller offices which have been closed altogether under the state law. They can keep the office open all day with only one operator there.

Under the federal law in emergency cases operators may remain on duty for four additional hours for not more than three days in the week. Acts of God and emergencies excuse compliance with the law and it does not apply to wrecking crews or relief trains. The Interstate commerce commission is to enforce the penalty for the violation of this law, which is a five hundred dollar fine against the corporation for each offense.

SMITH GIRLS TRIED TO "MAKE GETAWAY"

From the Police This Morning and Were Captured after They Had Boarded Train for Burlington.

With their personal belongings tied up in newspapers, Margaret Smith, age 17, and her sister, Inez, age 15, who were released from the police station last evening on promise that they would show up in municipal court at ten o'clock this morning, tried to make their "getaway" to Burlington today on a train leaving about the time set for their appearance. Officer Patrick Manning caught sight of them at the depot and at first took it for granted that Judge Pihl had given them another chance to reform. But when they made a perfectly apparent effort to avoid him by slipping out the back door of the station and making a long detour to the rear, he became suspicious and had the police agent telephone to police headquarters. As a result the two shame-faced young women were led back to the city hall. They told City Marshal Ampley that their father had advised them to go to Burlington and visit with an aunt and had provided the money for their passenger fares; and that furthermore, they had tried to call the police station at 5:30 this morning and inform the officers of their plans, but that the "line was busy." This was apparently all news to the father, Amos Smith, a painter who lives in the vicinity of Pearl street. When apprised of his daughters' move to a supposed profound ignorance of any such project, and denied that he had given the children money to buy tickets.

They are the same girls who were found with some bad boys in an old isolated shack in Forest Park when the place was raided by the police several months ago. Recently they have again been keeping late hours, and hanging about the Myers theatre stage entrance with some of the tough youths of the town. Their mother is dead and the father, so it seems, pays little or no attention to them so far as parental care is concerned. Officer Manning took them in tow last evening.

Referring to the fact that the action of the State vs. Mrs. Elizabeth Heller was on trial, the two girls had not been brought before the court at 3:30 this morning. It was expected, however, that they would come up some time before night and that the court might decide to send them to the Girls Industrial school at Milwaukee.

Pay Day Tells the Tale

Pay day is the measure of a man's ability. If the amount you get does not satisfy you, then we can help you to increase it. But if your ambition does not attain the greater heights than a job at $2 a day, we can do nothing for you. If you mean to get the best of the world and not let the world get the best of you, it is time you were up and doing. Every man must, sooner or later, come to a definite understanding with himself, whether he will climb up hill to success, or slide down hill to failure and obscurity. This is the age of the specialist. We can train YOU to be a specialist in your chosen line of work, as we have trained thousands of others. You don't need a "pull," only the ability to read and write and a determination to win. Let us show you how easy it is. BUTTON FACTORY
IS TO COME BACK

F. F. GIESLER, THE VICE PRESIDENT, WRITES FROM MUSCATINE.

WORD RECEIVED IN LETTER

Says Three Big Factories in Iowa City Will Be Combined and Located in Janesville.

F. M. Marzluft is authority for the statement that a letter has been received from F. F. Giesler of Muscatine, Iowa, vice president of the American Pearl Button Company, stating that the three big factories of the company are to be consolidated and removed to Janesville and that they expect to be in operation here early in May.

Proof of Story
Some three weeks ago the Gazette published a similar report that was founded upon a rumor and the letter from Mr. Giesler received this morning substantiated the report then printed. It will mean an added industry to Janesville and one which will continually grow in magnitude.

The Consolidation
Mr. Marzluft said this morning: "From letters received from F. F. Giesler, vice president of the American Pearl Button Company, Janesville is soon to be headquarters of the consolidated concern of the company. This is one of the largest pearl button companies in the country and the bringing of the three factories to Janesville will mean a great thing for the city. I am confident my authority in this matter is correct."

Muscatine Goes Dry

At the time the Gazette published the first announcement of the possible change of location it stated that the reason assigned for the change of headquarters was that Muscatine had gone dry. Nothing further can be learned to contradict this report and it is probably true.

CARRYING ON WHIRL-WIND CAMPAIGN

In spite of the fact that there are already four candidates in the field for aldermanic honors in the Third ward, ex-Alderman William W. Watt is going ahead with a campaign of the whirlwind order. During the past three weeks Mr. Watt has personally canvassed a total of 37 voters in his ward and is leaving no stone unturned day or night to land the plum. With this kind of a program in force the Third ward political situation promises to be a merry one from now until the primaries on March 24.

An ad with a neat black border and plenty of white space will command attention when the blackest type would fail.

View of Manhattan bridge now in process of construction over East river

From the Scientific American:
Now that the erection of the steel work of the long-delayed Manhattan bridge over the East river has actually begun, it is gratifying to note that it is pushed forward with a degree of celerity which gives reason to hope for an early completion of this much-needed structure. The Brooklyn anchorage is completed, and the anchor chains are in place. The Manhattan anchorage is practically completed.

The erection of the two towers of the main span is about one-half done, and, at the present rate of erection they should be carried to their full height in about two months' time. The fixed saddles, which will be bolted to the top of the towers and serve to carry the main cables will be 322½ feet above the mean high water of East river, and, as soon as these have been put in place, everything will be ready for the strutting of the main cables—a work which the contractor expects to carry through with far greater celerity than marked the strutting of the cables of the old Brooklyn or the Williamsburg bridge. Because of the new methods which they intend to employ, they expect to have the cables completed within twelve months of the strutting of the first wire. With the cables finished, say by the late spring of 1909, the bridge should be ready for opening by the summer of 1911.

The Manhattan bridge will be not only the heaviest bridge of any kind yet built. Although its span will be 140 feet less than the span of the big cantilevers of the Forth bridge, the enormous load which the bridge is destined to carry will call for a weight of cables and suspended superstructure, which will easily make this the heaviest and strongest bridge in the world. The Forth bridge carries only two steam railway tracks; and, although that bridge is such a splendid piece of work as regards strength and rigidity that the fastest Scotch express trains run across it at full speed of 60 miles an hour and over, the live load is exceedingly small compared with the size and mass of the cantilever. The Manhattan bridge, on the other hand, will have to carry no less than eight railroad tracks, in addition to a wide roadway for vehicles and two footways for pedestrians. The suspension bridge proper, disregarding the approaches will consist of a main span, 1470 feet long, and two side spans each 725 feet in length. The total width of the floor of the bridge will be 120 feet, as compared with the width of 85 feet of the old Brooklyn bridge.

SENATOR WILLIAM BORAH OF IDAHO AT TOP, SENATOR HEYBURN OF IDAHO AT BOTTOM.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 13.—Idaho's two representatives in the upper house of congress are badly split over what should be done in Idaho on the republican presidential matter. Senator Borah who succeeded Fred Dubois in the senate, thinks he is pretty close to the feeling of the people in his commonwealth. He is for William T. Taft and is lining things up for a Taft election. Senator Heyburn, however, also believes that he has a pretty good line on sentiment in Idaho and he has repeatedly stated that the people are undecided whom they will support and he is endeavoring to present anything like crystallization. He believes that an unstructured delegation should be sent from the state. If Senator Borah has his way, however, the delegates will be instructed for Taft.
Idaho is one of those few states which has more senators than representatives. In other words, the representative from Idaho is really a bigger man than the senator. The former's name is Burton Lee French.

KICKER'S KOLUM

A common saying is, "The world owes me a living"; you, young man, you are right. No greater truth was ever uttered. The world certainly owes you a living. If you are a cripple the world must care for you. If you are an imbecile the world must care for you. If you are blind, deaf and dumb, or whatever ailment you may have inherited or acquired by accident, the world must befriend you. Yes, young man, the world owes you a living; that is, civilization. But do not forget that you owe the world something; it is true, it is a debt of honor, but among civilized people, a debt of honor is considered the most sacred of all debts. Hence, he who would fail to make an effort to pay a debt of honor, possesses the least honor of all creatures. Therefore, above all things try to pay the debt you owe the world.

You owe it to the world that you make the best of yourself that your ability and opportunity will permit. You owe it to the world that you be honest, truthful, just and upright. In all your dealings with your fellow-man, you owe it to the world that you be kind, considerate and generous to all. You owe it to the world that you be gentle and indulgent to the weak and dependent, from whatever cause be it—old age, infancy or accident. You owe it to the world that you be tolerant to those who disagree with you, for to the same extent you disagree with them.

You owe it to the world that you be a manly man, for all this, too, is civilization. He who denies the above, and fails to try and practice the same, to that extent, thereby places himself among the lower order of animals.

CHARLES ROMANDKA ASKS FOR DIVORCE

From His Wife Who Was Recently Sentenced to Joliet Prison For Many Burglaries.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Milwaukee, Wis., Feb. 20.—Charles J. Romandka instituted a suit for divorce from Evelyn Calne Romandka, whose sensational escape in Chicago resulted a few months ago in her imprisonment in Joliet prison for burglary. Inhuman treatment extending over a period of two years is alleged. In support of this allegation the escapes of Mrs. Romandka in Chicago, her association with her negro accomplices and the thought of her arrest, conviction and imprisonment, are set out. The couple were married in Oshkosh in 1903 and had one daughter, aged three years.

FRATERNITIES MEET IN MINNEAPOLIS

The Alpha Delta Phi and the Chi Psi are the fraternities in session and members of both are here from many points. The visitors are being entertained by the University of Minnesota in chapters of the two societies.

ARE DISGUSTED BY ARRANGEMENTS MADE

Students Not Pleased With Schedule of Two Hard Games on Consecutive Saturdays.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, Wis., Feb. 20.—Protesters positively profane have followed the announcement that both of the two big football games to be played next fall by the University of Wisconsin eleven are to occur on successive Saturdays, the Minnesota game on November 14 at Minneapolis and the Chicago game a week later at Madison. This allows an opportunity for the men to fairly recuperate from the bumps they are certain to receive in the Minnesota game before meeting Chicago, and it is remarked that if Dr. C. P. Hutchins had desired to adjust the Wisconsin schedule most favorably for a Chicago championship, he would have done just this thing in the arrangement of the schedule. It is predicted that Chicago will defeat Wisconsin, no matter what the outcome of the Wisconsin-Minnesota game. The badgers will get a severe pounding at Minneapolis. They always do in the game with the gorillas, and especially if the contest is waged at Minneapolis in the presence of 25,000 or 30,000 spectators partisan to Minnesota. Then a week later the strong Chicago eleven, always in the championship class, will come to Madison, before the badgers get over the bruises and fatigues of travel resultant from the game at Minneapolis.

An element of hope in the prospect here is the fact that Quarterback Moll, the crack drop kicker, and James Dean, star end, both of the 1907 freshman team, have successfully passed all their examinations and will in all probability be true from faculty last next fall. A great contest between Moll and Steffen in the Chicago game and between Moll and Capron in the Minnesota game is looked forward to.
